

The Sardinian Summer School in Iwasawa Theory

6-12 August 2012, Alghero, Sardinia, Italy

The Sardinian Summer School in Iwasawa Theory will take place in Alghero from 6 to 12 August 2012.

Under the scientific direction of John Coates, Sadlerian Professor University of Cambridge

With lectures from

Prof. John Coates, University of Cambridge
Prof. R. Greenberg, University of Washington
Dr. T. Bouganis, University of Heidelberg
Dr. M. Kakde, King's College London

To apply email: contact_iwss@btinternet.com

The applications will be evaluated by the Scientific Committee. Candidates will be selected on the basis of the relevance of their research activities with respect to the courses contents.

Admittance to participate will include: in-campus accommodation, meals & refreshments, and the social programme. Travel expenses are at participants' own cost.

A maximum of 30 participants will be selected.

Application's deadline
31 May 2012

For more info see

www.iwasawa-summer-school.info

By guesting outstanding scientific events Sardinian governmental authorities aim to consolidate Sardinia's key role as land of encounter between different cultures and driver of scientific development.

The cutting edge infrastructures, immersed in the inspiring beauty of its natural landscapes, offer the perfect environment for sharing knowledge, generating innovation in research fields in which creativity is the key factor. We look forward to guesting you in Sardinia.

sponsored by

PROVINCIA DI SASSARI

organised by

